MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

Gleaned From Various Sources—
Little Points Picked Up By Vigilant Reporters.

The bill to make Huntingdon County a separate judicial district was defeated in the House.

A. B. Egolf purchased a large tract of bark timber land from W. C. Friend of Friend's Cove this week.

You will enjoy the play to be given next Monday in Assembly Hall by pupils of the 8th and 9th grades. Mrs. John Dibert of South Juliana Street was taken to the Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland, for treatment.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hughes of this place at the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, last Saturday.

Mrs. C. L. Bretz of Cumberland is making arrangements to move into her home on South Richard Street in the near future.

Get your ticket, price 25 cents, marked at Dull's Drug Store next Monday for play to be given in Assembly Hall that evening.

The Corlie House, which has been closed to the traveling public during the winter months, will open for the summer season tomorrow.

Insurance Agent J. Roy Cessna is improving his residence on South Juliana Street by erecting several new porches to it.

Remember the date—Monday, April 26—time—8 o'clock—place—Assembly Hall—for play to be given by pupils of some of the intermediate grades of our schools.

District Attorney and Mrs. D. C. Reiley are rejoicing over the arrival of an eleven-pound baby boy at their home on Juliana Street Wednesday morning.

"Snow White" is the operetta which will be given by pupils of the eighth and ninth grades of the public schools at Assembly Hall next Monday evening.

The members of the Brotherhood Bible Class are looking forward to an enjoyable time this evening at 8 o'clock. They will hold their first annual class banquet at Smith's Cafe.

"The Antler" is the name of a new house being erected by five prominent business men of Hollidaysburg, east of Bedford, for a summer residence. It is a commodious structure and has a porch 12 feet wide.

The supervisors of Bedford Township will hold a demonstration in road construction on the Chalkybeatsville Road Monday, April 26, at which time they will test the new steam roller recently shipped here by the Gallion Iron Works for trial.

A new scalp law has been passed. The bill removes bounties from all kinds of hawks, raises the bounty on wild cats to $6.00 instead of $4.00, Red and Gray Fox $2.00, Mink and Weasel $1.00 each. The claimant still pays the Justice's fee of 50 cents.

Daniel England of Friend's Cove and W. S. Gephart of Cessna are now among the many owners of Ford touring cars, having recently purchased them from L. D. Blackwelder, proprietor of Bedford Garage. Mr. Blackwelder will receive two more carloads of Fords next week.

On Wednesday the wooden awning in front of the Inquirer building was removed. According to the memory of Barber James Wagner, a tenant, the awning was erected in 1877, when the postoffice was located in the room now occupied by Casteel's meat market, for the benefit of the patrons who were compelled to remain on the outside of the office while the mails were being worked.

A marriage license was issued in Cumberland this week to Jacob Andrew Hale and Dessa Alice Redinger of Yellow Creek; one at Hollidaysburg to Arthur Eshelman of Monaca, Westmoreland County, and Katharine Leck of Osterburg, and one at Somerset to William O. Duppsstadt of Stonycreek Township, Somerset County, and Stella Tomlinson of Bedford County.

"They sang 'my country 'tis of thee' at the Battle of Bunker Hill." And how in the dickens could they do it, when the Battle of Bunker Hill was fought in 1775, long before "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was written? The world is full of misinformation. I heard Judge William MacLay Hall say: "History lies and romance tells the truth." The Judge was right.—Phoebe Peters.

Another Carload of Overlands
On Wednesday Earl Swartzwelder, proprietor of the Keystone Garage of this place, unloaded another carload of the famous Overland automobiles. The Overland has many admirers and is a favorite among car owners. Mr. Swartzwelder expects to dispose of this consignment in a short time.

Sunday School Conference
A conference of the Sunday Schools of the Eighth District of Bedford County was held Wednesday night of last week in the Methodist Church of this place, a large audience being assembled. Addresses were made by Rev. Forsythe, state president; Rev. M. J. Weaver of Everett, county president, and J. Anson Wright of Bedford, district president. A county convention was planned for June 1 and 2 to be held in Bedford. The most gratifying reports were those of the increased attendance and membership of the schools, which is noticeable throughout the county.

Long-Need

At the office of J. L. Tenley, Justice of the Peace, in Defiance on Wednesday, April 21, George Clinton Long and Miss Gertrude Alice Need of Wood, Huntingdon County, were united in marriage by the Justice. These young people are of the best society of their neighborhood and are a credit to their parents, honest and upright. Mr. Long has a position with the Rock Hill Coal and Iron Company at Woodvale where the young couple will make their future home. They were accompanied on their automobile trip to the office of the Justice by a lot of the best young people of Wood and Robertsdale.

Josiah Baughman

The body of Josiah Baughman, who died at his home in Pittsfield, Mass., a few days ago, was brought to Everett Tuesday evening and interred in the Everett Cemetery. He was a veteran of the Civil War, and an active business man of Everett of former years. The G. A. R. Post of Everett was named in his honor. He was 84 years of age and leaves to survive two sons and three daughters.

THE NARROWS "DUMP"

Horses Frighten at Refuse Scattered on Road.

For the past year or so garbage of all kinds has been taken to a point on the public road leading around the mountain at The Narrows in Snake Spring Township and deposited along the road side. Recently much complaint has come from numerous persons who are compelled to use this road, concerning the matter. They claim that the refuse is deposited at a dangerous point and quite frequently horses become frightened at the unsightly appearance, and from paper scattered on the road, so much so that ladies are afraid to drive their teams on the highway. The complainants also state that the proper township authorities having charge should either regulate the depositing of the refuse or put a stop to it before some one is injured, thereby preventing a claim on the township for damages. Below is quoted the Act of Assembly, approved May 1, 1913, prohibiting the depositing of refuse on highways:

"Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., That it shall be unlawful for any person to throw, or cause to be thrown, any glass, or metal or refuse, dangerous or detrimental to the traveling public, upon any highway of any township or borough.

"Section 2. Any person who shall violate the provisions of this Act shall, upon conviction thereof before and Justice of the Peace of the proper township or borough, be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars."

Public Weigh Scale Not Necessary

Warning to the people of Bedford Borough and surrounding country districts: That if the Town Council installs a public weigh scale at Bedford, the following evils will result therefrom:

1st. The revenue derived from the scale will not meet the expense of the scale, the wages of the weighmaster, and the expense of keeping same in repair, hence a drain on the Borough Treasury.

2nd. The cost of hay, straw and coal will be greater to the consumer, as the vendor will add the cost of weighing to the regular price of such articles. If you don't want to pay more for these articles, sign the petitions that are being circulated.

3rd. The farmers say that they do not have to market their hay and straw in Bedford, but can sell it elsewhere where they will also do their buying. This will hurt every merchant of Bedford, sending money out of town instead of bringing it in.

4th. The place selected for the scale is a very dangerous one being so near the railroad. The freight trains do practically all their shifting at this point, which requires about three to four hours a day, without counting the passenger trains. This would cause trouble, it would be impossible to get many horses on the scales at this time.

5th. The citizens of Bedford surely wish to see their town boom, and yet the Town Council demands that the farmers must weigh their products where they say. This will keep farmers out of our town. This will also make it much harder to do business than heretofore. Why make it harder; wouldn't it be better to make it easier?

Sol. C. Ritchey,
H. H. Lysinger.

Miss Cornelia Ealy

Miss Cornelia Ealy died suddenly at her home in Schellsburg on Tuesday of last week, of pneumonia. She is survived by two brothers and three sisters: Misses Mary E. and Ida M., and John C. Ealy of Schellsburg; Mrs. Annie Harmer of Pittsburgh and Albert Ealy of Eucinitas, Cal.

The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. E. A. Snook, at her late home Thursday afternoon, April 15.

Miss Ealy was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church, and was held in high esteem by all.

Miss Maude I. Amick

Miss Maude Isabel Amick died at her home in Altoona Tuesday afternoon. She was born at St. Clairsville, and was aged 27 years. Her parents, Stanley and Mary C. Amick, and one sister, Miss Mary C. Amick, of St. Clairsville, survive.

Hoover-Kegg

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday evening of last week in the Trinity Lutheran Church, McKeesport. The contracting parties were Harry A. Hoover and Miss Jessie E. Kegg, both of Everett. Both of these young people are prominent in social circles and in church work in their community. The groom is an officer of Zion Lutheran Church of Everett, and the bride has been a successful teacher in the public schools of her town.

They stole a march on their friends, and visited their former pastor, Rev. F. J. Matter, now located in McKeesport, who performed the ceremony.

After spending a few days in Pittsburgh and vicinity, they left on an extended trip, including Chicago and other western cities. They expect to make their future home in South Dakota.

Marriage Licenses

John S. Croft and Anna M. Imbler of Baker's Summit.
George Clinton Long and Gertrude Alice Need of Wood, Huntingdon County.
Virgin Clarence Hunt of Colerain Township and Catharine Pearl Naugle of Wolfburg.

FREE HITCHING GROUNDS

Are Ready, Are Paid For, and the People Are Urged to Use Them.

Bedford has had need of a public hitching place for years. A number of times during the past efforts have been made to secure hitching grounds but nothing was ever done.

The need of such a place kept the question before the town and a meeting was called the first part of March to consider the question.

During the past few weeks the merchants have made very decided efforts to accomplish their object. The Bedford House Stables, consisting of a large stable and two large sheds, have been rented and renovated; new stalls put in, feeding troughs built and watering troughs made and connected with water pipes.

These are now turned over to the public for their free use. The rent is paid in advance for one year. All bills for labor, lumber, etc., have been paid by the merchants of Bedford as the treasurer's report printed below will show.

There are stalls for the feeding of 75 horses at one time. The place is clean and will be kept orderly. When you come to town don't hesitate to use these stables. It makes no difference why you are in town, use them. You'll feel better while shopping or at church to know that your horse is off the streets and that it costs you nothing.

These stables are located about the exact center of the business section and can be reached from Juliana Street by alley between Slausenhaupt's and Straub's, from Pitt Street by an alley along Blackwelder's Garage and from Richard Street by Fisher House alley.

Mrs. George Tate

On Friday, April 9, Mrs. Mary Tate, wife of George Tate, died at her home near Tatesville. She was born on March 20, 1865, in Fulton County, and was the daughter of the late Aaron and Sarah Simmons. Her husband, two sons, four brothers and four sisters survive. Interment was made in the Providence Cemetery Sunday morning, April 11.

Miss Eliza B. Hinsh

Miss Eliza Belle Hinsh died at her home in Everett early Wednesday morning of last week, aged 57 years. She was a daughter of John and Barbara Hinsh and was born at Yellow Creek. One sister and two brothers survive. Interment was made in the family graveyard on the Hinsh homestead in Hopewell Township.

Bernard Fletcher

Bernard Fletcher died at his home in Bedford on Friday, April 16, 1915, of pneumonia, aged 73 years, seven months and 17 days.

He was born in Monroe Township and was the son of Baltzer Fletcher and Sarah (Mills) Fletcher. He married Allie Jane Hardsock of Monroe Township February, 1865, who still survives. They lived all their lives in Monroe until a few years ago when they bought the Frank Thompson property in Bedford on East Pitt Street and moved here to live a retired life.

Mr. Fletcher was an energetic, ambitious citizen and was always at work at something even in his old days. While he came to Bedford to retire, he bought a farm below the Narrows and spent much of his time working there. It is only another evidence that when a man is used to hard work and a very active life, he cannot in a day wear himself from his activities. To do so would be no more than a life of weariness and constant worry.

They had eight children, seven girls: Agnes, wife of Lee Foreman of Snake Spring Valley; Ida, wife of Charles Barkman of Monroe; Esther, at home; Emma, wife of Dr. Lauffer of Williamsburg; Minnie, wife of David Fletcher of Boiling Springs; Zora, wife of George Snyder of Roaring Spring; Sadie, wife of Mr. Shoemaker of Pittsford; and one son, Walter, of Alderson Pa. One sister, Mrs. Caroline Price of Monroe Township, and three brothers, John of What Cheer Ia., Albert of Clearfield and Baltzer of Monroe, also are still living.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. Albert Eyer of the Reformed Church, Bedford, of which he was a member, assisted by Rev. David Dittmar, a friend of the family. Interment was made in the Bedford Cemetery.

Mr. Fletcher made a recent trip to his friends on Clear Ridge and while there he contracted a heavy cold and la grippe and finally pneumonia, which caused his demise.

He was a frugal man, not boastful nor garrulous but a steady, even tempered quiet citizen. He took no great interest in education but with all due regard for that, all his daughters were school teachers and got a liberal education and two worked their way through college. He never discouraged educational and religious advancement even though he did not advocate it strongly. All in all he led a life that could be a model in most respects to everybody.

Watson W. Stiffler

Word was received here Wednesday evening of the death of Watson W. Stiffler at his home at Elkins, W. Va. The deceased was a son of the late George C. Stiffler and was born at Bedford about 55 years ago. He resided here until some years ago when he, with his family, removed to Elkins. Mr. Stiffler was a carpenter by occupation.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Emma Boor, and by one son and two daughters, also by one brother and three sisters: John of Bedford, Mrs. Bertha Brightbill of Reading, Mrs. Frank H. Hermann of Everett, and Kate, married and living in California.

The body will be brought to Bedford this afternoon on the 4:23 train, and interment will be made in the Bedford Cemetery. Mr. Stiffler was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Percy Kagarise

Percy Kagarise of Woodbury died at the Nason Hospital, Roaring Spring, last Saturday afternoon of peritonitis, superinduced by appendicitis. He was a son of Emory and Eva Kagarise of Woodbury, and was born in Snake Spring Valley on February 24, 1894. He is survived by his wife and one little daughter.

Mrs. E. E. Bowen

Mrs. Mary A., wife of E. E. Bowen, died Thursday evening, April 8, at her home in Everett, aged 49 years. She was a daughter of Archibald and Mary Barnes and was born in Monroe Township. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. Fred A. Coote of Everett; William S. of the Medical College, Chicago, Ill.; Lois, Ramon A. Robert M. Ewington, Dorthea V. and Frederick D. at home. Her mother, two brothers and four sisters also survive.

The funeral service was held at her late home on Sunday, April 11, conducted by Rev. Harry W. Wissler. Interment was made in Everett Cemetery.

Mrs. Collins Holsinger

Mrs. Mary Holsinger, wife of Collins Holsinger, died on Monday, April 12, at her home at Roaring Spring of tuberculosis, aged 24 years and one month. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ickes of Queen, and was born at that place residing there until two years ago, when she moved to Roaring Spring. On November 5, 1914, she was married to Collins Holsinger, who survives, with her parents and three sisters: Rebecca of Roaring Spring and Rachel and Mrs. Milton Acker of Queen.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday of last week in the Church of the Brethren at Queen, with interment in the cemetery at that place.

Mrs. Charles Bishop

Mrs. Charlotte Olive, wife of Charles Bishop, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Ritchey, at Earlton on Thursday of last week, aged 29 years. Her husband and one daughter survive; also three brothers and one sister: Grever C. of Everett, Raymond and Fred at home, and Mrs. John Swartzwelder of Whittaker.

Catarrh Germs Easily Killed

By Breathing Into Throat, Nose and Lungs a Pure Antiseptic Air.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause the disease.

The best known way of destroying Catarrh germs is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat and lungs the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful, healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which F. W. Jordan, Jr., and other leading druggists in Bedford and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ laden membranes a medicated air which will not only reduce all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches. Druggists are so sure of the blessed, lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on the positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use.—Adv. 16 Apr 21.

MOSQUITOES

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

Mosquitoes born now not only live all summer, but each female lays according to the species, about 150 eggs. These multiplied by the generations of a season would add up to millions of mosquitoes. As their breeding season has begun we must be diligent in our efforts to destroy their breeding places. Should we fail in our efforts we will be annoyed by their buzzing and their biting and by an increase of malaria fever, and should yellow fever be introduced to our shores, it would make for a serious epidemic.

The battle must begin at once. If we have to use rain barrels for our water supply, they should be carefully netted so that the mosquito cannot reach the water and lay its eggs. If fresh pools exist about our places they should be filled up or drains should be laid carrying away the rain water and not permit it to collect and become stagnant. If our swamps are too large to drain and fill up, they should be treated with petroleum, so that the oil will prevent the larvae of the mosquito from reaching the atmosphere to breed. It will then drown for the want of oxygen.

In country places ducks, particularly mallards, will do much to keep down mosquito pests, as they are very fond of the larvae and pupa.

Tomato cans, sardine boxes, broken cups—any vessel that will hold the rain water will afford favorable breeding places for mosquitoes. One tomato can half full of water will be sufficient for the rearing of thousands of mosquitoes.

The saucers under the flower pots in and around our houses offer favorable breeding places. Water vessels that are set out for birds and animals are often found full of mosquito larvae. Therefore, such receptacles ought to have the water changed daily, so as to destroy any eggs that may be laid in them. Water pitchers in rooms that are only occasionally used have often been found fertile breeding places and where houses were well screened they were filled with mosquitoes, owing to the fact that maybe one or two female mosquitoes had found access to the water in these pitchers of a spare chamber.

Those Who Walk

It is generally believed that more automobiles will be used this season than ever before. Many people feel that it is a sign of social insignificance not to own a machine. Yet there are tens of millions of good people in this country who own no automobiles. Have they wholly failed in life?

There are of course many people perfectly able to buy motorcars, who do not care for them. The meditative paces of the old family horses suit them better. Or they may have no gumption for machinery. The possibility of finding themselves stranded on a lonely road twenty-five miles from nowhere is the deterrent. Still automobiles are the twentieth century's most popular toy. In nine out of ten cases, failure to own one results from a feeling of inability to afford it. What solace have these people for lack of a convenience that a great many people now find to be an absolute necessity?

To the philosopher, the possession of two good muscular legs, able to walk considerable distances without fatigue, is a very good substitute. It is a compensation which many people do not understand. Even before the days of automobiles, one often used to hear farm people, who had the use of several horses, speak rather contemptuously of city persons who used to come into the country and spend a good deal of time walking. It never seemed to occur to the horse owner that people walk for the mere pleasure of the stride and the close contact with nature.

The use of motor cars is weakening muscular power for a great many persons. As the fascinating ease of motion gets its grip over them, it is a great temptation to jump into them for a half mile shopping trip or errand about town.

Man is a walking animal. His organs depend for their stimulus on muscular activity. The results of losing the habit of walking, under the beguilements of a fascinating plaything, seem ominous. They are something that threatens serious work for the doctors.

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man an unhappy slave. For impure blood and sluggish liver, use Burdock Blood Bitters. On the market 35 years. $1.00 a bottle.—Adv.

Chaneyville April 19—Mrs. William Fetter is seriously ill.

For some time in this section is generally the first day of April but not so this year as the following will show: Watson Cooper will move to-day from Rainsburg to his farm near Chaneyville. Mr. Cooper will work for J. H. P. Adams.

B. F. Boor has purchased the hotel property at this place and takes possession this week.

Joshua Howsare has purchased the property formerly owned by Dr. J. Thornton Smith and will move this week.

George Adams will move to the property vacated by B. F. Boor and Frank Grubb will occupy A. L. Tewell's house.

Fred Tewell has bought the Rebecca Gordon property which will be occupied by his brother, Thomas Tewell.

Thomas Perrin has moved onto the M. I. Robinette property.

A. L. Tewell, who has been in the hospital at Cumberland for some time, returned home on Saturday feeling much improved.

Rev. McDaniel Howsare of Ohio is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Howsare, of this place.

M. C. Perrin and wife and Mrs. Ellen Tewell were Everett visitors this week.

Last Thursday a very successful term was closed at the Barkman school. Miss Stella M. Fletcher, teacher of this school, is a conscientious teacher and her kind disposition won the admiration and respect of the pupils and patrons of the school who all join in the heartfelt thanks for the work done and hope for her return another year. This school for several years has been honored by having the very best teachers obtainable and our school board deserves its share of praise for work well done which is very much appreciated.

Mrs. Hezekiah Fetter, who has been ill, is some better.

A new baby arrived at the home of Simon Cooper recently.

On April 18 Sunday School was organized at the Barkman School House and the following officers were elected: Superintendent, Emory Howsare; Assistant, F. T. Collins; Secretary, Silas Means; Treasurer, Marcus Means; Teachers, William H. Mountain, Robert Hart, Pearl Barkman and Mary Mountain. There will be Sunday School next Sunday at 2:30 and preaching immediately afterward by Rev. D. G. Hetrick.

Walter Diehl was plowing for L. B. Pardeew several days last week.

Thomas Perrin is doing quite a lot of repairing to his mill property. Jacob Adams is preparing to go into the lime business at this place. He expects to have a supply on hand for the fall seeding.

Harvey Sollenbeger has just drilled a well for Owen Robinett. Mr. Sollenberger moved to Chaneyville where he will have several wells to drill.

Mrs. Lillie B. Weimer is working for B. F. Boor of this place.

THE STARS

By A. W. Stubbs

The stars in the firmament glitter and sparkle;

Some of them reflect but the rays of the sun.

While others we know are the centers of systems.

In the fathomless realms of the Infinite one.

Are the worlds that revolve in the far away orbits,

The home of people not unlike our own?

Do they struggle and strive on those glorious planets?

Will knowledge of these things be ever unknown?

Will inquisitive man ever solve the great problems,

That are mysteries still in the regions of space?

Or increasing knowledge unfold to his vision,

The things that so long have been puzzling the race?

For thousands of years we have striven for knowledge,

And strange it may seem, yet how little we know;

Here are mysteries still all around and above us;

We know not what makes vegetation to grow.

In the Infinite life there is infinite wisdom,

Which man, who is infinite, can never attain;

But still there is pleasure, pursuing the knowledge,

Although in a lifetime, but little we gain.

Then shine on ye stars in your radiant glory,

Your mysteries vast, you may never unfold;

Yet man will continue his efforts to fathom

The intricate things which his God may withhold.

TO REMOVE EVERY SIGN OF DANDRUFF

If your hair is not pretty; if it is losing color, too dry, full of dandruff, falling out, or if your scalp itches, you can quickly overcome all of these conditions at a trifling cost with this simple home treatment.

Just get from F. W. Jordan, Jr., some Parisian Sage, a most helpful and invigorating tonic that supplies every hair need. It is easily applied and absolutely harmless. Improvement begins with the first application for Parisian Sage not only nourishes the hair roots but stimulates your hair to grow long, thick, soft, fluffy and lustrous. It immediately removes every bit of dandruff, stops itching scalp and surely gives your hair new life and beauty.—Ad. 16A21

CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States. Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists.

The best physicians point out that during changing seasons the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood; it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and throat, while it builds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes.

Efficient Publicity

The idea is entertained by some of the older type of merchants, that the good repute of their firm is spread from mouth to mouth in conversation, and that they do not need to advertise in the newspapers.

That condition may have prevailed many years ago, when people had nothing else to do but to gossip about their neighbors. In those times everyone discussed all of his home purchases with all his neighbors.

Today a man who depends upon conversation and gossip to spread the news of his store, will not find that his place of business is much frequented. People do not exchange information about their domestic habits as they used to. You have little idea whether your neighbors buy their goods of Smith, Brown or Jones. The world is full of wide interests, and the bargains one may find in a certain store are ordinarily known only to those that find them.

The newspaper is the only efficient means of acquainting the public with the business news of the town. For one person that will learn something about a given store by word of mouth, a hundred learn about it through newspaper notices.

The advertising columns of a newspaper are read just as attentively as any sensation that may appear in the news columns.

The results of the two policies are obvious. In one case a merchant drags along, with only a small part of the community knowing anything about what is happening in his store.

In the other case, practically everyone knows when that merchant has special bargains, and what can be done in his store at any given time. Can there be the least question as to which kind of merchant gets the business?

The Wall Street Advance

Not for some years has there been seen such a sharp advance in securities as those recently recorded. People who contemplate investment should reflect carefully on the way in which Wall Street arrives at its opinion.

In every day trade, the sentiment of buyers and sellers is about equally balanced. From this equal balance of conflicting interest, an equilibrium is reached which usually approximates very closely to actual values.

Nine-tenths of all who dabble in stocks are buyers. They acquire stocks when they think they are low, hoping for high prices. The financial reports in the newspapers all reflect the great preponderance of buying sentiment, those who expect to make money by advances. The great majority of financial reports at any given time are cheerful, tending to encourage buying.

The balance against this great preponderance of optimism is kept up largely by the professional "bears," operators who make a business, of contracting to deliver stocks at prices under the market. They thrive by the over confidence and over optimism of other people. They are a small minority. But the hopeful, trusting, confident public so frequently pushes prices head too fast, that the bear gets a great many chances to work his profitable game.

It is probable that for a very large part of the time for the past twenty years, prices of securities have been too high. They are kept there by the great preponderance of the people who want to make money by buying stocks.

Wherefore the investing public should be cautious about rushing in too fast to buy securities. It is probably true that within two or three years, with the war over and business confidence fully restored, securities will be higher. But there will be many ups and downs. People who buy should take only the most solid securities, and should be prepared to lock them in their tin boxes and forget about them.

TEN WEEKS IN BED--EMINENT PHYSICIANS FAILED--WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

I wish to inform you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of Swamp-Root. I had been a sufferer for more than twenty years from kidney and liver trouble, and was almost constantly treated by the most eminent physicians who could only give me temporary relief. I had been in bed ten weeks when I began the use of Swamp-Root. Inside of twenty-four hours I could see that I had been greatly benefited. I continued to use Swamp-Root until I had used several bottles when I really felt that my old trouble was completely cured and I am positive that any person suffering with kidney or liver trouble can be cured by the use of this preparation.

I am now in the best of health, better than I have been for ten years or more. I do not know how to express myself as strongly as I desire, in favor of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, as I am sure that it saved my life and that my good health is due entirely to this great remedy. I heartily recommend it to every sufferer and am confident they can be benefited as I have been. It is a pleasure for me, gentlemen, to hand you this recommendation.

MRS. H. J. PRICE, 1406 Center St. Portsmouth, Ohio. Personally appeared before me this 13th day of September, 1909, Mrs. H. J. Price, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

R. A. Calvert, Notary Public.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Bedford Gazette. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv. Apr. 2, 4t.

Arbor Day, Fruits, and Birds

Owing to his deep interest in the subject of bird protection for both their economic and ethical values, as shown by his many publications, State Zoologist H. A. Surface, Harrisburg, is naturally much gratified with the Arbor Day Proclamation recently issued by Governor Brumbaugh. This Proclamation is so potent in suggestions, that it should be read in every school room, and preserved in every home in the State. It is as follows:

"Whereas, Pennsylvania has maintained a foremost place among the States in natural conservation, having acquired over one million acres of forest lands, and having given much attention to reforesting and preserving the same;

Now, Therefore, in order to increase the knowledge of the people concerning trees and their value to the Commonwealth and its citizenry, I hereby designate Friday, April 16, and Friday, April 23, 1915, as Arbor Days.

There is both a sentiment and an economy in the planting, the care, and the culture of trees. I hold firmly the conviction that a people can not too tenderly regard a tree. There is much in its growth, its shape, its foliage, its fruit, its economic value, its shelter and shade, to challenge one's admiration and quicken one's interest. A treeless country is menace to its inhabitants. If we are to have health through recreation in the out of doors, through pure water and pure air, we need great reaches of forest lands throughout the Commonwealth. These are reservoirs of health and happiness to our people. From them flow only blessings and influences for good. We cannot bequeath a kinder bounty to our children than a well-treed Commonwealth.

Moreover, in these trees nest and abide our song birds. These feathered friends demand consideration. They should have a welcome to our State. I would plead on Arbor Day for the birds, their care, and their comfort. We do not yet fully appreciate their beneficial offices as we should.

Our people are too prone to attend to the things of present profit. On these days we should inculcate the virtue of a wider obligation to society and a deeper duty to the Commonwealth. Figure Pennsylvania as you would have her a generation hence, and plant for the people to be, quite as much as for the people of today.

Along our State highways we should plant rows of food bearing trees. The crops should be sold when ready for market and the funds used to keep the road in repair. This is both economically and aesthetically proper. Our school grounds, our public parks, our State lands, our many private preserves and parks, should all be well set with trees or shrubs.

It is earnestly requested that Arbor Day be widely and properly observed, that in all parts of the State our people plant trees, that in our schools and in our homes we teach the importance of trees and the care of birds and animals. We are rapidly approaching a day when we will think

Bedford Gazette

ESTABLISHED IN 1805

VICTOR E. P. BARKMAN
Editor and Publisher

The Gazette is the leading newspaper of Bedford County and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

Regular subscription price per year $1.50, payable in advance.

Card of Thanks, 50c, Resolutions, $1.00.

All communications should be addressed to

Gazette Publishing Co.,
Bedford, Pa.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 23, 1915

The Bedford business men held a banquet or dinner on Tuesday at which time was considered ways and means of making Bedford a busier, better town.

Barnes, Republican Boss of New York, and Roosevelt the Big Stick in opposition, are getting at things in New York politics. The suit will no doubt be wholesome not only for New York City and State but for the Nation as well.

William S. Vare says he sympathizes with Governor Brumbaugh in his great defeat. Yet Vare votes against the Governor. Sympathy on one hand and knocks him flat with the other.

Brumbaugh lost his leadership if he ever had any. He lost out on his Local Option fight by 59 votes. He allowed his name to go on the ticket with Penrose and all the other liquor candidates in order to pull them through and then pretended to fight the liquor interests in the Legislature. That is two-faced, strengthening the cause one place and time and fighting it at another place and time. "Consistency is a jewel."

It may be a good plan to follow other towns and cities in selecting a couple days in May on which the town may be cleared of its rubbish and waste of winter. We suggest taking three days, say 4th, 5th and 6th of May, and cleaning each day certain sections of the town mapped out by the Town Council. Have the citizens adjacent to the alleys collect rubbish and deposit it in the alley for hauling away and on one of the days selected for hauling let the team go along and collect. After the time limit for cleaning up is passed have the police of the town inspect the premises of vacant lots to see that all the rubbish is cleared and if any should be found neglected to notify the property owner to clear it up at his own expense or the town will do it and charge it to him.

It may not be amiss to suggest to our country folks to observe clean up days also. Rubbish collects in the country as well as in the town, though not so fast, and it mars the appearance of the farm as well as the properties in town. It would be a wise thing to clean up and paint up to the very best of your ability.

The surmise that the Progressives are all returning to the Republican fold is all fiction. The report that they have tendered their support to Governor Brumbaugh if he should become the leader of his party is a fabulous tale. To be sure, if Governor Brumbaugh can and will dethrone Penrose and Penroseism in Pennsylvania, they would have a right to follow him but Brumbaugh won't attempt that and if he should attempt it, it is a question whether he could do it or not. There is no better barometer to gauge leadership than the vote on the Local Option measure, which was defeated in the House by a big majority. Penrose skinned Brumbaugh alive on that measure while Brumbaugh was having demonstrations and feasts and conferences galore. Much talk but no action. Penrose did it and stayed in Philadelphia. No danger of the Progressives going over to a man who cannot stem Penrose. It would tickle the reactionaries all over to know that the Progressives are coming back and they are handing out all kinds of dope, editorially and by word of mouth, in order to console themselves that it is a real thing instead of a bunch of imaginations.

It is enough to make Brumbaugh smile to know that the sentiment for him to take the leadership of the Republican party is only a foolish suggestion. No man of the minority can assume the leadership of the majority. The Republican bosses said "stand by the Governor," yet they slapped him such a blow the very first opportunity they got that they turned his head clear around on his frame and made it face backward. That is the kind of leadership he is going to have. They are going to lead backwards just the same as they have always led. No Local Option, no Child Labor Law, no Compensation Law, nor nothing for which the Progressives stand. If the Bedford Inquirer doesn't mind it will be so far away from the Republican party and Republican principles that it will not know just which way to go. It will be a great leap to get back on the G. O. P. wagon and a bitter pill to go headlong toward Progressive principles. It wants to follow Brumbaugh and stick to the G. O. P. It better begin to sing praises of Penrose. Brumbaugh has failed, gone bankrupt politically.

Conference With Old Correspondent From Kansas

We were pleased to have a visit on Wednesday afternoon by Major Frank Holsinger of the State of Kansas. Mr. Holsinger was The Gazette's correspondent from Morrison's Cove and while he served in the army, thus giving the news direct from the battlefield of '61-'65.

Major Holsinger is a first cousin of Hon. J. H. Longenecker, with whom he shared a very pleasant social time reviewing personal history of years ago.

He was born in Woodbury 80 years ago and has lived in Kansas for many, many years. He is in love with his adopted state as well as his native, and he is proud of Kansas for the moral tendencies and progressive principles put into practice there.

Kansas has had state prohibition since 1881 and the state today knows no pauperism. The financial statistics show that the people own in property or money $1,017 per capita, while Pennsylvania has a per capita value of about $250. Education is advancing more rapidly in Kansas than any other state. To prove his claim he cites that one out of 120 is in college, while in Iowa it is one out of every 200 and Pennsylvania falls so short of these figures that we are ashamed to quote for our own state.

In 48 counties of Kansas there is not an inmate in the poor houses. There is no poverty and the bank deposits are greater than the other states according to population.

Major Holsinger states that the wheat crop is in the finest prospects he ever saw it. The state authorities predict two hundred and fifty million bushels as against one hundred and eighty-one million bushels last year and a banner year at that. He states that their prosperity is due in a large measure to their temperate habits.

Mr. Holsinger can recall the day when he saw immense herds of buffalo roaming where the magnificent Wichita now stands and says that the numbers of the flocks then compared in numbers to the population of human souls in the city now—a vast and rapid change in the life of an individual.

He sees quite a change for the better in the East as well. He remembers the day when at a reunion, such as he was attending in Philadelphia, you could see lined up on tables scores of beer, wine and whiskey bottles and at this reunion, he never saw a bottle any place.

We were glad to have Mr. Holsinger with us for the few brief moments and although he is 80 years of age, we know by his ability to make such a trip alone and by his fine physique that he has many more years credited to his longevity. May these be as happy to him as his past.

Cheap Paint

The cheapest paint is the one that goes farthest and wears best; there is most in a gallon of it.

What is a quart of milk worth? Depends on the milk.

So of paint; depends on the paint. Devote is worth the top price, whatever it is. Poor paint is worth nothing at all; you've got to pay your painter $3 or $4 a gallon for putting it on; and it isn't worth it.

Devote goes twice as far and wears twice or three times or four times as long.

The cheap paint is Devote at the top of the market.

Everett

April 21—Mrs. Arthur Hollar and little son Richard of Cumberland and Mrs. George Moyle are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Skillington.

John Evans, who has been the guest of his mother, Mrs. Penelope Evans, returned to Altoona the first of the week.

The residents of West Street are congratulating themselves, for at last Borough Council authorized Street Commissioner Lowery to call together his force and put West Street in good condition. The work is finished.

Edward Fisher and wife visited at Wolfburg a few days recently.

E. J. Laher has purchased a plot of ground near Everett Station where he is having placed storage oil tanks. This makes Mr. Laher better equipped for accommodating oil custom.

Mr. Gump and Mr. Laher have had a private siding placed south of the station for their convenience.

Howard Simmons has purchased an automobile.

Prof. Fetterhous, principal of the borough schools, left Friday evening and spent over Sunday with his family.

Mrs. P. W. Kline visited Saxton friends over Sunday.

Andrew Shetrompf returned on Saturday from a business errand to Hagerstown.

John Clegg is having a new piazza built in front of his Water Street residence.

Scott Rinedollar is having a new roof put upon his house.

Mrs. Calvin Kirk and Mrs. George Ritchey of Well's Tannery were shopping in Everett on Tuesday.

H. H. Suters of Ray's Cove was a business visitor in Everett on Saturday.

The Martinsburg seniors have issued invitations for the commencement exercises to be held Thursday evening, April 29.

William R. Manspeaker was numbered among Everett shoppers on Wednesday.

H. F. Gump, Sr., purchased from the Elk Tanning Company the Rolling Mills of Tecumseh. The building is being razed and the lumber is being used for the construction of a warehouse and coal wharf at Everett Station.

Francis Ott is adding much to the improvement of his Main Street property.

Mrs. Charlotte Ritchey Bishop of Marlston was buried Sunday afternoon, April 18. Mrs. Charles Bishop, the 28 year old daughter of Edward Ritchey, all residents of Marlston, was called from her period of long suffering on Thursday, April 15. Cancer of the stomach has for possibly two years been her affliction. Hospitals, doctors, nurses and loving hands have all administered to this invalid but to no avail. Mrs. Bishop was a consistent member of the Christian Church. The mother of two children, one of 10 years, survives to comfort the husband. May God bestow His blessing upon Father and Mother Ritchey, for surely their cup seems full, having so recently parted from their 22 year old son, for was he whose death occurred from the escaping gas of the ovens at Marlston furnace three weeks ago.

Fishertown

April 20—Mrs. Rebecca Stoner of Martinsburg spent a few days recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Blattenberger.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Blackburn of Everett and Harold Blackburn of Mill Hall spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Blackburn.

Miss Ruth Taylor is spending a few weeks in Altoona.

Mrs. W. H. Martin and son Harold of Pitcairn spent from Tuesday until Wednesday at the home of Joseph Penrose.

Mrs. S. B. Way, Misses Ella Way, Mary Cleaver and Annie Mickel spent Wednesday in Bedford.

Mrs. John Griffith of Johnstown is visiting friends here this week.

Mrs. H. L. Hull was taken to the Altoona Hospital on Wednesday for treatment.

John Wolfe and family of Pittsburgh have moved to our town. We hope they will enjoy the country life. We are glad to report the sick of our town are somewhat improved.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

WATCH IT GROW.

In Phoenix, Ariz., before the November election, all the liquor places put up a sign to this effect: "This building will be for rent if the 'dry' amendment carries." After election the saloon men refused to give up their leases, some of them opening drug stores, some soft drink stands, some restaurants. The law went into effect January 1. The day afterwards every baker and grocer in the city for the first time sold out their stock of bread and the meat markets sold out their meats. Last year the arrests for drunkenness in Phoenix averaged 12 per day; on the day after the saloons closed, for the first time in his history the police court had no drunks. Phoenix bankers also have a tale to tell. The day Arizona went "dry" the Valley bank, which suspended early in November, reorganized and opened up for business stronger than ever. The Citizens' bank, established by local capitalists, opened after the saloons were voted out. The Central bank, organized by eastern men after the election, filed articles of incorporation three days after the law went into effect and now occupies one of the "empty buildings." A branch of the Anchor Trust company of Wichita, Kan., was established after the state voted "dry." "Watch Arizona grow," say Arizonians.

"TOMMY ATKINS" PLEDGE.

The following "tetotal" pledge is being circulated among the British troops on the European battle fields: "Don't ask me to take drink; I've decided to be tetotal while on service for my country. (Carry this with you and show it whenever asked to take liquor.) On the reverse side of the card is printed: "Temperance Battle Card for the Great War. "Recognizing that as army, navy and medical leaders have stated, "Alcohol or drink is detrimental to health and efficiency, "I promise, God helping me, to be tetotal while on service for my country. (Signed with witness). "Get a mate or the chaplain, or an officer to witness this."

DEMAND IS FOR SOBER WORKERS.

In a recent number of the Technical World is a contributed article entitled, "The Worker Who Drinks Must Go." The editor in an introductory note thus comments: "Emperors, business men, social reformers are all agreed upon one thing—alcoholic drinks work positive harm. A single glass of beer lowers a man's efficiency 7 per cent. Imagine what strong wine, gin, or whisky will do. The up-to-date employer will not keep men who drink even in moderation; the secretary of the navy will not allow them on our warships; every commander in the field today is leading a sober army. Everywhere the brains of the world recognize that alcoholic liquors weaken both muscle and mind power."

PROSPERITY IN ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Georgia, is the largest dry city in the country, and the capital of a state in which the sale of liquor has been prohibited since 1907. In that year the realty transactions of the city were $81,540,350; in 1913 the amount was almost double—$172,292,004. Building permits for 1907 aggregated $4,554,177; in 1912 they reached the sum of $9,387,444. Corresponding increase in all lines of business is recorded. The tax rate shows significant reduction.

NEAR THE TOP OF THE WORLD.

The "farthest north" local Woman's Christian Temperance union is in Dawson, Yukon territory, only about one hundred miles from the Arctic circle. It was organized in 1913 by one of the national organizers of the society and is doing active work for temperance—"living, working, gaining new members," writes the president, "and corresponding with the Ottawa officials in regard to the observance of Sunday closing of saloons." Plucky!

CHURCHES AND BREWERIES.

Did you know that over ten times as much money is spent in building churches as in building breweries? This, at least, is the record for the first four months of last year. According to no less an authority than the American Contractor, a building trade journal, in that period the brewers spent $429,000 in building operations and the church people spent $4,329,986.

PERTINENT QUERY.

What is the difference, asks an exchange, in moral quality between keeping a saloon and running advertisements of whisky and beer?

STUDY OF ALCOHOL.

In fourteen European universities instruction as to the nature and effects of alcohol is a recognized part of the curriculum.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 25

DAVID AND GOLIATH.

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 17:3-51. GOLDEN TEXT—If God be for us, who is against us?—Rom. 8:31 R. V.

For forty days (v. 16) Goliath defied Saul's army, encamped near Bethlehem. Three of the sons of Jesse were in Saul's army and to them David is sent with food (vv. 13, 18, 19). These brothers scornfully reproached David when he expressed a willingness to fight Goliath, accusing him of pride and reminding him that he was but a shepherd (vv. 26-29). David's words are carried to Saul and he is introduced to the king.

I. Boastful Pride, vv. 38-44. Fear and dismay were aroused at the very sight of this proud Philistine (vv. 11, 24, 32), yet such fear was foreign to David, for his eyes were not upon man but upon God (v. 37). He related to Saul his exploits not as boasting but as giving him assurance that God was able to deliver him out of the hand of this Philistine. Saul, who had once been a man of like simple faith, is now as much in fear as any of his army. David was perhaps about twenty years of age and verse 56 calls him a "stripling," hence it was that Saul's armor would not fit him (cf. 10:23). Humanly speaking, it was an impossible thing David offered to accomplish single-handed. Even Saul (v. 32) sought to dissuade David, but David was not trusting in man nor depending upon the armor of the king (v. 39; Ps. 27:1-3; Isa. 12:2; Rom. 8:31). David took his familiar staff and sling (see 1 Thess. 5:2) and sallied forth, "strong in the Lord, not in himself; armed not with steel but with faith." Crossing "the valley" (v. 40 marg.) he prepared his sling, with which every Israelite was skilled (see I Sam. 13:19-23). On came the giant, a man about nine feet tall (v. 4), "a stalking mountain, overlaid with brass and iron," preceded by his protector (v. 41). Why such a soldier after his period of triumph should desire this added safety is not quite clear. It suggests, however, the sinner's timidity which reveals his essential weakness in that he trusts himself, takes no chances, and is even suspicious of his own supporters. What a contrast! This armored giant and this ruddy-faced, unarmed youth, carrying only the staff, wherewith he was wont to fight wild beasts, and his sling! When God calls a man he uses that weapon with which the man is most familiar, and when the church or the Christian soldier seeks to fight in the armor of another, or by using the weapons of the world, it is foredoomed to failure (Ez. 4:2; Judges 3:31).

II. Conquering Humility, vv. 45-51. David acknowledged Goliath's superior armament, yet armed with the name of the God of the army of Israel which Goliath had insulted, his confidence overtops that of the Philistine and he hurls back his proud boast. Furthermore, the victory was to be an immediate one, "this day" (Zech. 4:6; James 4:7). With calm assurance he informs Goliath of the outcome of their conflict, but takes no credit to himself. David had naught but naked faith and the sense of a just cause to strengthen his arm. He would do to Goliath and the Philistines the things that Goliath had boasted he would do to David (vv. 44 and 46) "that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel," see also v. 47. David's seemingly insufficient preparation is now revealed to be abundant, for he had four stones more than he needed (v. 40). It is thus that God chooses the weak things to confound the mighty (I Cor. 1:27).

III. Summary. We have before us three lessons. First the lesson of individual responsibility. A sinful king had paralyzed the effectiveness of the army of Israel. David, "a man after God's own heart," refused Saul's armor, crying out "I cannot go in these." Saul, bound by tradition, must use conventional weapons. Every great advance in the history of the church has been led by some man who struck out boldly, insensitive alike to the conventionalism of his friends and the gibes of the enemy. God would have every man work according to himself, not copying, not imitating, but with his own equipment. Second, all the giants of sin have not yet been overthrown. We still have the giants of Intemperance, Unchastity, Graft, Selfishness, Ambition and the Inequalities of our civic and social life. These can only be overcome in the strength of God. Bunyan mentions three giants, Pride, Grim and Pagan; to these we may add, Anger, Untruthfulness, Selfishness and Sullenness.

Third, Our Helper. See Golden Text. Of all the graces David possessed, faith was the root of each one—faith in a living God. His active faith caused him with nimble feet to attack this blasphemous enemy (v. 48). His faith in God characterizes his entire life, resounds in his songs and strengthened his life of service for Jehovah.

It is such faith that strengthens the arm of the true saint of God, that enables him to "overcome" in his own life, to undertake for God and to go to the ends of the earth in his name.

Stomach Trouble Quickly Cured

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years, and imagine they have a serious disease. They over-eat or over-drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work, but they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do the extra work.

If these people would take Tono-line Tablets regularly they would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of over-work. No matter what you eat or drink Tono-line Tablets sweeten your sour stomach and stop gas belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears, and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

Tono-line Tablets not only promptly relieve all distress, but if taken regularly by building up the body, overworked walls of the stomach and make them strong enough to digest the most hearty meal. $1 for a 50 days' treatment. Mailed by American Properties, Inc., 16 Apr 4t tary Co., Boston, Mass.

A Place for Sheep on the Farm

The department urges the desirability of maintaining a small flock of sheep upon the farm. With proper care and attention a flock of 25 or 30 ewes can be kept at very little expense, and they will prove of inestimable value in freeing the farm from weeds and adding something to the farm income. In addition to providing a considerable supply of wholesome food for the farm table, there will be a surplus for sale, and an additional item of revenue in the form of wool.

Many farmers make a practice of buying ewes in the fall, breeding them and selling the lambs the following summer. Such ewes can be carried through the winter on wheat and rye fields if not pastured too closely, or on clover hay with some roots and a little linseed meal. If the clover hay is not available, corn fodder may be used as roughage, in which case it should always be supplemented with bran or linseed meal. Lambs should come early and should be taught to eat as soon as they are old enough. Give lambs access to corn by providing a creep through which they can go without allowing the ewes to follow.

For farm purposes the black-faced ewes are more popular than the others, although good results can frequently be obtained from the white faced ones. In buying ewes, be sure that they stand well on their feet, have good straight backs and good mouths. Ewes that have broken teeth or teeth that are badly worn down should not be bought. As a rule, a sheep has one pair of permanent incisor teeth when it is one year old, two pairs when it is two years old and three pairs, or a full mouth, when it is three years old. A full mouthed ewe, if the teeth are in good condition, can be used for breeding with good results although she may be as much as five years old. Never buy a ewe that has a broken mouth—that is, with teeth that have been broken off or lost.

None but a pure-bred ram should be used. It is not necessary to have a show animal, but a strong, vigorous buck is essential. Shropshire, Oxford, Southdown, and Hampshire rams sire excellent mutton lambs, and these breeds are recommended for the farm States. A suitable ram can be bought for $8 to $20.

The two principal drawbacks to the sheep industry in the farm States are dogs and stomach worms. The dog nuisance can be obviated to a great extent by placing dog-proof fences around the pastures. The United States Forest Service has had excellent results in protecting sheep from coyotes and wolves by building fences constructed in the following manner. A barbed wire is first stapled to the posts right on the surface of the ground. Three inches above this is placed a panel of close-woven wire, 36 inches high, and above this two strands of ordinary barbed wire. Care should be taken to see that there are no openings between the ground and the lowest barbed wire. An inclosure made in this manner, into which sheep may be turned at night, is inexpensive, and dogs will not get through it. Most of the damage by dogs is done at night.

The presence of stomach worms is a very serious drawback. The young lambs become infested with them by eating grass to which the worms have attached themselves, the eggs being deposited by the mature sheep. It is therefore desirable to keep the lambs on land on which the mature sheep have not run, and if possible, in cases of bad infestations, to keep the lambs away from the mature sheep as much as possible.

In the farm States the farmers will find it to their best advantage to regard the wool from the sheep as a by-product, and direct their principal attention to the production of lambs and mutton for the table.

Olive Oil—Flesh Builder

One of the best known and most reliable tissue builders.

Rexall Emulsion containing Hypophosphites is both a flesh builder and nerve tonic. Pleasant to take. Easy to digest. Frank W. Jordan, Jr.

The American Boy President Woodrow Wilson has a message for the boys of America in the current issue of "The American Boy." "Prepare for Citizenship" is the title of his interview as reported by Clarence B. Kelland. The Decoration Day story, featured in this issue, is one with an especial appeal to those who love animals. The stories of Connie Morgan's adventures in the gold fields of Alaska, told by James B. Hendryx, have proved favorites. "In the Lillimut," the newest story of this series, appears in this number. Other story offerings are "O. K. Bullies Bull;" "The Red Twins" and "On Skate Creek Trail." There are installments of thrilling serials by Donald Hamilton Harries and William Heylinger, and an able review of the past month of the European war. The many pictures of novel inventions and natural wonders will interest everyone.

PENROSE FAMILIAR WITH BARS, HE ASSURES ELKS

"Those Along the Inlet"—He Adds When Atlantic City Banqueters Laughingly Applaud.

Atlantic City, April 15.—Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania was the guest of honor at the local Elks' banquet, at the Chelsea Hotel tonight. Wives and daughters of the fraternity members were also guests. Senator Penrose said:

"There is nothing Atlantic City cannot hope for if your business men will go to Washington and insist upon recognition in the rivers and harbors bill. You have been too modest in the past and you should not permit it to happen again."

Applause interrupted Penrose when he said he did not believe there was an inch of bars he had not bumped upon.

"I allude," he said, smiling broadly, "to the bars off the inlet, and not to the bars along the boardwalk. I believe the latter have been closed under a Democratic administration. "Keep up your fight, and there is no reason why you should not have twenty feet of water over the shoals at your harbor entrance. When that comes to pass, Atlantic City will be the great yachting rendezvous of the Atlantic coast, and not Newport, where there is nothing but fog."

Woman's Home Companion

In the May Woman's Home Companion 134 moving picture films are recommended as being thoroughly wholesome and worth while. Along with these recommendations Helen Ducey writes an interesting article entitled, "Better Films for Children," full of practical suggestions to parents. In the same issue Ida M. Tarnell writes a stirring and thought-provoking article entitled "The Twenty-Cent Dinner;" William Armstrong presents a character sketch of the young woman who will some day be Empress of Austria. A number of other notable authors write interesting articles.

The regular Fashion, Cooking, Young People's, Handicraft, Better Babies, and Housekeeping departments are full of suggestions of great interest and practical value to housekeepers everywhere.

To Prevent Loss From Soil Erosion

Loss from soil erosion in the South has been found to be a most important factor in that section's agriculture, by investigators of the department. The loss, in fact, is said to be greater in that than any other section of the country, and wherever hilly land is used for crops, investigators urge that measures for preventing further damage be adopted. The results of the investigation have just been published by the department as Bulletin No. 180, "Soil Erosion in the South." This bulletin also contains a study of the problem of erosion in general, which will be of interest to all farmers in hilly or rolling country.

Terracing is recommended as the best and most efficacious method of controlling erosion. It should be supplemented, however, by deep plowing and the addition of organic matter to the soil whenever these measures are possible. Water running rapidly over the surface will carry with it particles of the soil and the faster it runs the more soil will it carry. In the course of a year the amount of earth that is thus removed reaches colossal proportions. Geologists have estimated that the rivers of the United States annually carry to the sea soil material to the amount of 783,000,000 tons. In localities where this erosion is carried on to an advanced stage the quality of the soil is greatly impaired, a large part of the soluble salts are removed, the surface soils are often washed down to the lowlands, gully-ing so defaces the land that it becomes difficult to cultivate, and the loss of organic matter frequently leaves the field to be abandoned as too poor for profitable agriculture. In the South, it is said, erosion is the chief cause of the abandonment of land and in some sections has caused 50 per cent. of the arable land to lie idle.

All methods of preventing soil erosion are directed toward lessening the amount of water that runs off the surface and increasing the amount that sinks into the soil. If all the water that falls on a given area were absorbed by the soil there could be no erosion. For this reason vegetation is useful because it checks the flow of water and thus affords more time for the process of absorption. Hence the movement for the more general use of cover crops in the South. In addition to retarding the flow of the water, such crops keep the soil more or less open by the penetration of their roots and in this way further facilitate absorption. Deep plowing produces somewhat the same effect, but does not, of course, add any organic matter to the soil which promotes the granulation of the soil particles and thus produces larger spaces between the particles for the water to sink through.

Terracing, the use of cover crops, and deep plowing will unquestionably greatly diminish the loss from erosion. It is also unquestionable, according to the investigators, that it will pay to do this. On moderate slopes in the Piedmont region of North Carolina the decrease in crop values alone due to erosion has been estimated at $3 an acre yearly, making a total annual loss of over $2,000,000. The fact that there are many hilly farms where erosion has been stopped indicates both that this loss is in a measure unnecessary, and that in certain areas it runs at an amount at present far more than the $3 an acre already mentioned as an average.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Bedford Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Bedford citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 W. Pitt St., Bedford, says: "I hadn't been in good health for some time and now think it was all caused by disordered kidneys. I was very nervous and had severe headaches. My back ached constantly and the least bit of work tired me. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to give them a trial and got a box at Heckerman's Drug Store. In every way they acted just as represented and gave me prompt relief." (Statement given October 14, 1907.)

OVER SIX YEARS LATER Mrs. Davidson said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills once in a while since first endorsing them and they have kept me in good health."

"Old" at Thirty-Seven

The defeat of Jack Johnson by "Jess" Willard is generally attributed to his age. From the standpoint of athletics, he is going down the declivity of life at the ripe age of thirty-seven. He excelled Willard in science and skill, but got tired quicker.

Baseball constantly gives these instances of some loss of physical power at an early age. The great majority of the successful players are under thirty. Over that age some lack of elasticity and endurance commonly begins to unfit a man for the fastest play.

It would be a melancholy reflection for the average man, if he had to admit that the age of thirty-five he is going down hill. In business the years of from forty to fifty are commonly called the prime of life. The man who shows decided signs of physical decay at fifty has usually abused himself either by dissipation or overwork.

Many men start with a meager equipment of physical strength, but by rational exercise and sane living are stronger at fifty, capable of greater physical exertion, than they were at thirty.

Young people take pride in their seeming ability to defy the stupid laws of health. They bolt their food, cut short their sleep, and indulge in harmful vices. The spirit of youth keeps them going, until one day something snaps. It may take years to recover.

It is often said that the way to live long is to have some incurable disease. The man who starts out with a slender equipment of physical power, careful husbanding of his forces, often lives into the eighties. Meanwhile physical marvels like Jack Johnson or the ball players throw the cream of their power into moments of supreme strain.

There may be more physical loss in such an hour than in years of plodding effort of daily life. It is yet to be proved that athletic prowess assures either long life or a healthy old age.

To Planters of Early Potatoes

Truck growers who annually plant a considerable acreage of potatoes are warned by the department that there was, on January 1, 1915, a very much larger supply of northern-grown potatoes in the hands of growers and dealers than was the case January 1, 1914. Experience has demonstrated that a large hold-over crop of northern-grown potatoes which was in good condition and selling at a reasonable price when the early truck-crop potatoes reach the market means low prices—sometimes so low that the shipment of such crops nets a loss to the grower. Under such conditions a small acreage means a smaller loss than a large acreage.

With 43,000,000 more bushels of potatoes in sight January 1, 1915, than were available at the same time last year and with a 1915 price of 43.2 cents as compared with 66.2 cents a year ago, a price which under the then existing conditions did not improve before the truck crop began to move, there is little hope that the conditions will be better this year. The price now is just about 33 per cent. less than it was a year ago. The distribution of the crop is much better than last season; so there is little likelihood that the price of hold-over stock will reach last year's mark even by the end of the storage period.

Popular Mechanics Magazine

The May issue of Popular Mechanics Magazine contains 251 articles and 316 illustrations. An important article on "Directing the War by Wireless," by George F. Worts, gives a vivid idea of the part played by this most modern means of communication in the great European conflict. The launching of our largest battleship, the "Pennsylvania," is described in an illustrated article by J. Crosby McCarthy, who discusses the risks involved in events of this kind. "Preserving the Sound of the Liberty Bell," "Modern Station Planned to Eliminate Confusion," "Sea Sled Rides at High Speed Without Spraying or Skidding," and "Short Cut Across Canada for Seagoing Vessels," H. H. Windsor discusses "Doctor of Mechanics" editorially and also writes "Premature Peace Plans," "The Medium-Sized Man," "We Learn from Experience" (cotton situation).

The Shop Notes and Amateur Mechanics departments contain a large amount of interesting and practical material. A feature of the latter is detailed instructions for making a dragon kite, 50 feet long.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. The result was lasting."—Hon. John R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala.—Ad.

Plain Coats and Zouave Jackets Mark the Divergence of the Mode

Boots and Hats of Military Origin

New York April 21, 1915.

Now that Easter is past history and the smart woman has placed her stamp of approval on this style and that by actual wearing, street clothes resolve themselves into two distinct types, the tailored and semi-tailored suit.

Perhaps it is the anticipation of a cross-continent trip to the Fair that is making the tailored suit so popular or it may be merely on charity bent finds the plain coat and short skirt in keeping with her mood. Whatever the irresistible influence is, it has left our suits of frill and fancy and left them for the most part plain creations with coats medium length and skirts short even to the top of the high boot.

In the window of a Fifth Avenue shop, a model of dark blue gabardine is attracting the gaze of the never ceasing stream of well-dressed women who frequent this thoroughfare. Suggestive of a uniform, it boldly stands forth with patch pockets over the seams, a small one above and a large one below the broad belt of white leather that sports a black nue wears it. Nor are these borders confined to the tinsel alone. One of the small specialty shops shows a serge coat with the border in white silk braid and the effect is really fetching. There are other suits, too, with the borders embroidered with blue silk floss. Indeed, variety is endless in these strictly tailored suits. Their style is even accentuated by contrast with the silk models of semi-tailored lines.

Distinctly different in purpose and appearance, the suits with short Zouave jackets in no wise conflict with the vogue of the tailored, but are selected for theater, afternoon and dress wear. One of New York's most famous houses has on display an attractive model in mouse-gray faille silk, the coat short and boxy and the skirt laid in soft pleats. Fine silk-corded motifs in the corners of the jacket and woven buttons in self-tones make rich trimming.

The other day in a theater party of four young girls, who braved the uncertain April weather to wear their best to the matinee, two had the new short jacket suits, one a blue taffeta with silk-covered buttons placed close together down the closing and the other a gray silk with frogs of silk-covered cord. In some of the better shops they are introducing these short coats in cloth, but taffeta and faille are used in the great majority of the models.

It is like a great painting, the suits forming the central figure and the accessories a background that makes the completed picture perfect. Neckwear is unusually alluring. In the stores, we read small painted placards bearing—"Berthas," "Jabots" and "Fichus" and marvel that such confections of net, lawn, Val and flit lace, chiffon and crepe de Chine can so quickly come to enhance the beauty of the silk suits, while high collars with flaring turnovers, dainty flat organdy collars, part blue and part white, and stiff-starched linen collars cut on the Buster Brown plan grace the counters in grand array waiting to be claimed for tailored suits.

A Military Model of Blue Gabardine Trimmed with Wide Hercules Braid

buckle. The collar, notched in the most approved manner, is faced with white broadcloth to match the belt and bound with black braid the same as the front and the lower edge. Huge white ball buttons complete the trimming and below the binding on the circular skirt, the cuffs of Russian boots are seen in black patent leather to match the vamp, while the quarter is made of white kid. A small turban of black straw with white wings flaring on either side carries out the balance of the black and white, marking the skill of a clever modiste.

Many variations are seen in this suit. Here it is made without the pockets, and there with a shawl collar in place of the notch. However, if you start in quest of some really new fabric you are doomed to disappointment unless the fabric be a cotton. Invariably as you roam through the racks and models of the cloak and suit departments, you see the black-clad saleswoman pause in front of the chair of a prospective customer and hear her say, "A dark, blue serge or gabardine, shepherd's check worsted or Donegan Tweed?" and there the choice ends, unless, as I said before, you want a cotton for your tailored suit. Here magic has been wrought with the warp and wool. Carraval is one of the interesting new cottons; it is a material for all the world like a duvetyné that has borrowed the knots of ratine, and there are numberless other good suiting cottons and linens.

Feeling the defects of the season's woollens, trimmings outdo themselves, and in no small measure are responsible for the success of the tailored styles, for braidings, binding, pipings, buttons and embroideries ingeniously employed diversify and lend dash to present fashions. Suits of serge, gabardine or checked worsted have edges bound with Hercules braid in black, white, tan or blue. Narrow soutache braid in white makes another smart finish on blue serge, placed in four rows around the skirt above the hem, but if there is a preference it is given to the new silver tinsel braid which appears in floral borders on the bottom of the serge and gabardine coats. So quickly did it come and so smart was the effect, its popularity was instantaneous—today in one shop, tomorrow in another, and by the end of a week the whole Ave-

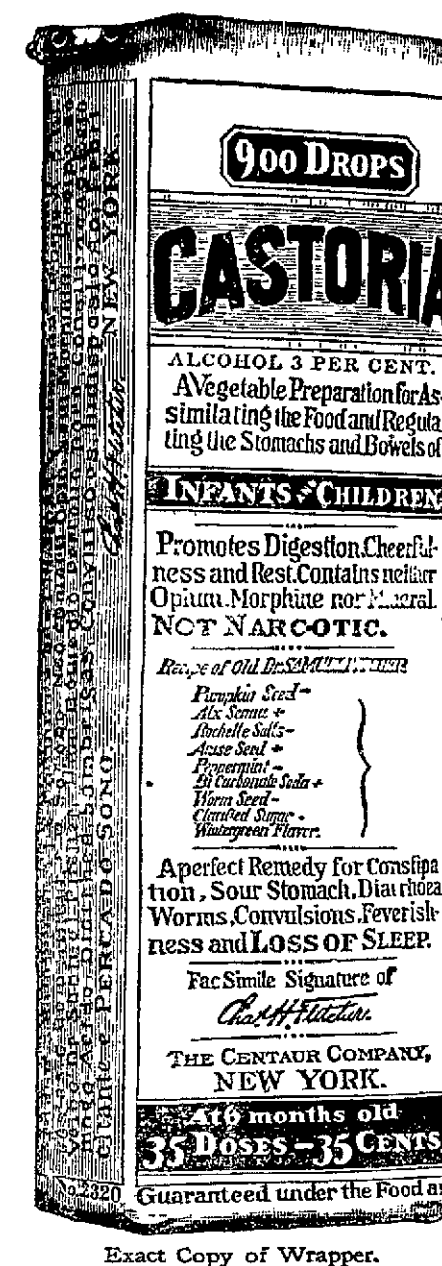

Zouave Jacket and Pleated Skirt Made in the New Mouse-Gray Faille

Hats equally stunning, appear in turban and sailor shapes, small sizes being favored. There are round turbans and tricorne, all straw or satin faced, ranging from black and emerald green to the sand and putty shades. Often a bow, flower or wing adorns the tip top of the crown and I have heard it said, if one dares to whisper such a thing in a neutral land, that it was copied from the peak of a German's helmet. Others are trimmed around the brim. Resting on the cover of a big hat box with a background of flowers, one store displays a putty-colored turban, the sides straw and the top satin, edged around with acorns, oak leaves and roses. Another shop on a side street has a whole window of flower hats, while a house, renowned for its tailored styles, features turbans and sailors trimmed with wings and quills and natural leghorns, embroidered around the crown with wool in black and emerald green. It would seem, there is a hat for every face, but when it comes to footwear we all must bow to Fashion's will for ties or boots are the only choice.

Ties of black patent leather stand side by side with ties of white, gray or tan, and others are shown with the black leather vamp and the upper of tan, white or gray, while stockings influenced by the styles in shoes come in matching grays and tans or in vivid hues for contrast, plain or in moiré effects, with up and down or crosswise stripes, ribbed or in gay Scotch plaids. However, the immediate present does homage to the high boots with heels curved slightly in French fashion, laced at the front, side or back, or with no closing at all.

Harsh physics react, weaken the bowels, will lead to chronic constipation. Doan's Regulants operate easily. 25c a box at all stores.—Adv.
